BRITISH POST OFFICES IN THE “LEVANT”

Jean Mirza, 2010

Levant: name applied to the Eastern Mediterranean and the coastal areas of the former Ottoman (Turkish Empire).

A British postal service in the Ottoman Empire was instituted as early as 1832. For 25 years were used just for consular correspondance. In September 1857 the British Post Office in Constantinople (Istanbul) was opened for public service.

Additional Office was opened in Smyrna in 1872.

The Post Offices

There were five post offices open in the Empire that used British, or overprinted British stamps.

Constantinople: 1 September 1857 - 30 September 1914

        4 February 1919 - 27 September 1923

Stamboul: 1 April 1884 - 25 August 1896

        10 February 1908 - 30 September 1914

Smyrna: 1872 - 30 September 1914

        1 March 1919 - 30 September 1922

Salonica  1 May 1900 - October 1914

Beyrout  1873 - 30 September 1914

There were also 2 post offices in Egypt.

(Alexandria and Port Said)

Most values of the contemporary postage stamps of Great Britain can be found cancelled in the Levant. The most common cancels found are shown below:

Cancellations: Stamps of Great Britain cancelled as

Beyrout “G 06” or circular postmark as in type 8,18,20

Salonica circular postmark type 18
Costantinople  ‘‘C’’ or circular postmark as in type 1,10 and 19
Stamboul  ‘‘S’’ as type 10 or circular postmark type 18
Smyrna  ‘‘F 87’’ or circular postmark as in type 8,16 or 18

The ‘‘S’’ cancellation for STAMBUL was in use from 1885 to 1891 and the ‘‘STAMBOUL’’ mark from 1892 to 1896, when the Office was closed, and from its reopening in 1908 to 1914. The ‘‘COSTANTINOPLE S’’ hand stamp was normally used as a back stamp, but can be found cancelling stamps in the period 1885 to 1892.

The Turkish piastre was devalued in 1884, making it possible to buy British stamps in Turkey and ship them to England for a speculative profit. To stop this practice it was decided to overprint stamps in Turkish currency. The overprinted stamps were first issued in August 1885.

Stamps overprinted ‘‘LEVANT’’ were for use on parcels, newspapers and printed matter. The face values were left in sterling to simplify accounting with the steamship and rail companies.

SMYRNE (Post War)

When the Smyrna post office was reopened on 1 March 1919 existing stocks of surcharged or overprinted issues were utilized until they were exhausted in mid-1920. These stamps were supplemented and finally replaced in mid-1920 with ordinary stamps of Great Britain. Smyrne was recaptured from the Greeks by Turkish government in September 1922. The British post office was burned down on 9 September 1922 during the Great Fire in Smyrne.

Following the occupation of Costantinople by Allied forces a British Military Post Office was opened for civilian use on 4 February 1919.

‘‘FIELD POST OFFICE H 12’’  (4 February 1919 to March 1919)
‘‘ARMY POST OFFICE Y’’  (March 1919 to July 1919)
‘‘ARMY POST OFFICE S.X.3’’  (April 1919 to July 1919)
BRITISH A.P.O. COSTANTINOPLE  (July 1919 to September 1920)

The Office reverted to civilian control in July 1920.

Circular postmarks used civilian and military Levant post offices.
