An intricate, detailed illustration of the interior of a dome, likely St. Paul's Cathedral. The scene is filled with classical architectural elements: columns, arches, and a central dome. The space is populated with numerous figures in classical attire, engaged in various activities. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows, creating a sense of depth and grandeur. The overall style is reminiscent of 19th-century architectural engravings or paintings.

'As exhilarating as it is learned, this splendidly illustrated book shows how our cultures—including our religious cultures—interact and interweave in ways that challenge all kinds of assumptions we might make about our history. By studying our past, Darke poses essential questions about the possibility of a shared and humane civilisation in the future.'
